Gasoline Tax Seen Alternative To Surcharge Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Ford's proposed 5 per cent income surtax in trouble, administration officials are talking again about a gasoline tax hike that they say would provide needed revenue and cut gasoline consumption.

Government officials say the administration is desperate to get congressional and public approval for one of the two taxes.

An increase in tax revenue would be used to pay for a proposed public service unemployment program, help the housing industry and offset tax cuts for low-income groups.

Nevertheless, some officials said privately they were surprised when Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said Wednesday he was studying a gas tax increase anew and might recommend it to the President.

These officials also said it was highly unlikely Morton would raise the gas tax idea again without prior approval of the White House. And they said it logically could be linked with a White House statement Tuesday that Ford no longer was "wedded" to his income surtax proposal.

The gasoline tax proposal that has had the widest support among administration economists is an increase of 10 cents per gallon, on top of the existing four-cent federal tax.

One Treasury official said a 10-cent increase would raise about $9 billion. He said it had been proposed in the past to pay for income tax refunds of about $4 billion to low-income persons and use the remaining $5 billion to pay for a public service job project and other programs.

Treasury officials, including Secretary William E. Simon, have made no secret that they preferred the gasoline tax to the income surtax. They have argued that the gasoline tax also would help reduce gasoline consumption.

Ford has said on several occasions there would be no gasoline tax increase, and he has argued that his surtax proposal was fairer.

However, the income surtax has run into heavy opposition, and congressional leaders like House Speaker Carl Albert have said it will never go into effect. Treasury officials also have said privately for weeks that the surtax is doomed.

These officials believe Ford decided against a gasoline tax because he felt it would not get through Congress. But they say that Congress might now be willing to consider the gasoline proposal because of congressional objections to the surtax.

Reach Coal Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — The striking United Mine Workers won a hefty package of wages and benefits from the coal industry in a tentative contract settlement which could reopen the nation's soft-coal mines before Thanksgiving.

UMW President Arnold Miller predicted his 120,000 members would approve the pact. The union's ratification process is expected to take about 10 days.

In the meantime, the two-day-old strike that has already idled about 20,000 workers in the steel and railroad industries will continue.

"It's a very good settlement — one I think I can sell to the membership," Miller said in announcing the settlement Wednesday night. He said it would "eradicate some of the gross inequities that have existed for years."

The union's 38-member bargaining council, summoned from the coal fields, meets today to consider the three-year package. Its approval is needed before the proposed contract can be sent out to the members.

Under the tentative settlement, miners would receive wage increases of 9 per cent the first year and 3 per cent in each of the next two years. In addition, they would get cost-of-living increases in the second and third year. Miners now earn between $42 and $50 a day.

The contract also guarantees sick leave for the first time, and an increase in pensions from the present $150 a month to $250 at the end of the contract.

Numerous other fringe benefits, including a one-time $80 "inflation catch-up bonus," add up to what appears to be the biggest labor settlement this year.

The negotiators refused to put a price tag on the agreement, but industry sources said it represented a 46 per cent boost in wages and benefits over the three years while union sources figured it as closer to 40 per cent.

Coal prices have quadrupled over the past year and the settlement is likely to lead to further boosts; how much will be passed on isn't known. But with the electric power, steel and railroad industries heavily dependent on coal, consumers eventually face high electric bills and bigger price tags for automobiles and other steel products.

Union officials indicated that the earliest the mines could be reopened is Nov. 25, beginning with the midnight-to-8 a.m. shift.

This is the first time in at least a half-century that a coal contract will be put to a rank-and-file vote and no one is sure how the miners will respond.

But in the coal fields, initial reaction to the settlement from the miners was cautious, and most warned that it would have to survive critical examination before being ratified.

"We can't accept anything that the men won't be satisfied with," said UMW District 5 President Lou Antal of Pittsburgh. Jack Perry, District 17 president at Charleston, W. Va., said if "it falls short of what we think we need, we'll certainly reject it."

Arafat Calls For End To Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Lebanon's Christian president today follows Yasir Arafat to the podium of the United Nations General Assembly to carry on the Arab campaign to replace Israel with a Palestinian nation.

Arafat left the United States by plane before dawn today, and Radio Havana said he was flying to Cuba.

President Suleiman Franjeh, a moderate whose nation is half Christian and half Moslem, was designated by the Arab League to speak for it to the Assembly. Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization has its headquarters in Beirut, the Lebanese capital.

Arafat opened the assembly's two-week Palestine debate on Wednesday with a call for creation of a secular state for Moslems, Jews and Christians that would take in all of Palestine, including Israel.

The Arab summit conference in Rabat, Morocco, last month called for the creation of a Palestinian state on the West Bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip, both captured by Israel in the 1967 Arab-Israeli war. But after Arafat's 90-minute speech, Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah told the assembly Israel will never allow the PLO to establish its authority in any part of Palestine.

The burly, 44-year-old guerrilla chief urged Americans and Jews everywhere to turn their backs on Israel. Zionist ideology and the leaders of Israel offer only "perpetual bloodshed, endless war and continuous servitude," he declared.

"I have come bearing an olive branch and a freedom fighter's gun," Arafat declared. "Do not let the olive branch fall from my hand."

Arafat told the assembly: "When we speak of our common hopes for the Palestine of tomorrow, we include in our perspective Jews now living in Palestine who choose to live with us there in peace and without discrimination ... "I am no terrorist. I believe a democratic state should exist on this land."

Israel's delegation boycotted Arafat's speech, while the Arabs, Chinese and Cubans walked out during Tekoah's reply.

Tekoah said the PLO's members were "murderers who have come to the General Assembly certain that it would do their bidding."

"They have no place in international diplomatic efforts. Israel shall see to it that they have no place in them. Israel will pursue the PLO murderers until justice is meted out to them. It will continue to take action against their organization and against their bases until a definitive end is put to their atrocities."

Arafat's speech was the first in the history of the assembly by someone who was not a representative of a recognized government. The assembly's Arab president, Foreign Minister Abdelaziz Bouteflika, ordered the courtesies normally accorded only chiefs of state or prime ministers, including the U.N. chief of protocol to escort him to and from the rostrum and a chair there for him.

About two-thirds of the delegations stood and applauded enthusiastically when Arafat entered the hall and after he finished speaking. The U.S. delegation, including Ambassador John A. Scali and Sens. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., and Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., sat quietly throughout.

Heavy Snow Hits Northern Tier Of U.S.

By The Associated Press
Heavy snow blanketed a wide stretch of the Midwest today as the season's first major snow storm churned out of the region and into the Northeast.

Temperatures skidded into the teens and lower 20s behind the storm, dropping in some cases to the lowest levels this autumn.

Three to 5 inches of snow piled up through Wednesday from central Iowa to southeastern Michigan and northeastern Indiana. Heavy-snow warnings remained in effect for parts of Indiana, Michigan and northern Ohio.

Rain mixed with snow plagued motorists and outdoor activity in general all across the southern fringes of the storm belt.

Deep snow drifts hampered highway travel in rural areas of northeastern Indiana where up to 5 inches of wind-whipped snow fell Wednesday night. Travel advisories were out from central Indiana to Pennsylvania.

The National Weather Service said the storm was expected to spread snow and rain northeastward into upstate New York and New England by nightfall.

Snow also whitened the eastern slopes of the Colorado Rockies, where Denver measured 3 inches overnight.

Weather

Windy and cold with chances of snow flurries today, high, mid 30s. Partly cloudy and cold tonight and Friday, low, mid 20s. High Friday, mid 30s. Probability of precipitation, 40 per cent today and 20 per cent tonight and tomorrow. Temperatures Wednesday were: high, 45; low, 36.

Workers Join Auto Union

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Workers at Rockwell International Corp.'s new automotive spring plant have voted unanimously to join the United Auto Workers Union.

Eighty-five workers at the $18 million, heavily-automated plant, here approved the affiliation in a vote this week. The plant will have about 250 production workers when it is fully operational next year.

The United Steel Workers, which had also sought to represent the production employees, pulled out of the election because the steel workers union did not have enough votes, a spokesman said.

High Court Ponders Press Suit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The attorney for a West Virginia woman who claims her privacy was invaded by an article in the Cleveland (Ohio) Plain Dealer told the Supreme Court Wednesday the story was not newsworthy but "a creative feature article."

Harry Alan Sherman of Pittsburgh argued that Margaret Mae Cantrell of Point Pleasant, W. Va., and her family had been humiliated by being "hung up to dry by a creative, imaginative fiction writer."

The newspaper's attorney, Smith Warden, argued that granting the woman's claim would be an unconstitutional restriction on the freedom of the press.

Mrs. Cantrell and her son, David, were awarded $60,000 damages by a jury because of an article which appeared in the Plain Dealer on Aug. 4, 1968. The verdict was reversed by the circuit court.

The article dealt with the aftermath of the collapse of the Silver Bridge across the Ohio River at Point Pleasant on Dec. 15, 1967. The collapse killed 44 persons, including Mrs. Cantrell's husband.

Mrs. Cantrell said her house was "made to appear as a dirty, poverty-stricken shack" and the family as "hillbillies."

Nixon or his lawyer, Herbert J. Miller Jr., before examining confidential medical records or attempting a physical examination of the former president.

But a spokesman quoted the chairman of the panel, Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel, as saying he will wait for Nixon to work out preliminary arrangements for the inquiry.

Hufnagel, 58, has been chairman of the surgery department at Georgetown University Medical School in Washington, D.C., since 1969.

The other two physicians are Dr. Richard Starr Ross, a heart specialist at Johns Hopkins University Medical School in Baltimore, and Dr. John A.

Spittell Jr., an internal medicine and heart specialist at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn.

Nixon has been subpoenaed by cover-up defendant John D. Ehrlichman, whose lawyers say the former president's testimony is crucial if their client is to receive a fair trial.

In spelling out general instructions for the doctors, Sirica listed seven possible recommendations they might make.

They ranged from a conclusion that Nixon is currently fit enough to travel to Washington and appear as a witness to taking a written deposition from the former President under special conditions at his estate in San Clemente, Calif.

Sirica made no mention of the possibility that Nixon may not give any testimony.

Sirica said he wanted recommendations "either on an interim or a final basis," by Nov. 29, the day after Thanksgiving.

Watergate prosecutors, who do not require Nixon as a witness, have said they plan to complete their case by Thanksgiving.

In testimony Wednesday, retired New York City detective Anthony Ulasevich, an undicted co-conspirator in the cover-up case, described how he made a series of deliveries of $217,000 in cash to the seven original Watergate defendants or their lawyers.

LaRue, a former Nixon reelection committee lawyer who has pleaded guilty to a conspiracy charge for his part in the cover-up, broke little new ground during his testimony, but implicated all of the defendants directly or indirectly in his testimony.

LaRue's testimony was particularly damaging to defendant Robert C. Mardian, who LaRue said joined Mitchell and himself in a series of meetings where cash payments and other cover-up activities were discussed.

The other defendants are H. R. Haldeman and Kenneth Parkinson.

Team Of Court Doctors To Examine Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica has selected three physicians to ascertain whether former President Richard M. Nixon will be healthy enough to testify in the Watergate cover-up trial.

Sirica said Wednesday the three doctors, all specialists in heart and circulatory problems, would decide for themselves the best method for making the independent medical inquiry.

While Sirica moved to settle the issue of Nixon's testimony, Frederick C. LaRue was scheduled to resume describing his role in the alleged cover-up as a close assistant to defendant John N. Mitchell.

LaRue was to be followed to the stand by Lt. Gen. Vernon A. Walters, deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Nixon, recovering from severe side effects of a chronic phlebitis condition, was expected to be released from the Long Beach (California) Memorial Hospital today.

Although Sirica said the mechanics of the inquiry would be left to the doctors, the judge also said in a formal order, "Should Mr. Nixon refuse access to appropriate and necessary medical records or refuse to submit to an appropriate physical examination ... the panel shall report immediately to the court."

In his order, Sirica said the three doctors should request permission of

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices were mixed today after a new surge in the wholesale price index helped to wipe out some early gains.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down .07 at 659.11. Gainers retained a slight over-all lead over losers, however, on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers said an early rise of about 7 points in the Dow came in response to a tentative coalindustry labor contract agreement reached late Wednesday.

Occidental Petroleum was the Big Board volume leader, unchanged at 13. A 48,500-share block traded at 13 1/4.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .08 to 68.30.

The NYSE's composite index of some 1,500 common stocks was unchanged at 38.82.

Storm Drilling & Marine was the most active issue on the Amex, down 3/4 at 24 1/4.

Sheriff Arrests Burglary Trio

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Detective Don Thompson arrested three persons involved in numerous burglaries in Pickaway County.

Charges have been filed against Clyde Dennis Sayre, 26, aggravated burglary, grand theft; Lloyd Lee Barnhart, aggravated burglary, theft, breaking and entering; and Helen I. Bloomfield, 39, breaking and entering.

The three were involved in burglaries at the Gary L. Blankenship residence, April 26 where $1919 worth of guns and antiques were taken; Louis Holderman in Pickaway Township, Oct. 30; Elmwood Grain Company Elevator, Sept. 16 where tools valued at $193 were missing and the Pickaway-Saltcreek Speedway, where an amplifier was taken sometime in October.

Part of the items have been recovered and verified by the owners. Radcliff noted that Barnhart is charged by the city on passing bad checks and that the trio is responsible for $2000 worth of bad checks in Chillicothe, Lancaster and Circleville.

The trio is also being interrogated concerning burglaries at three cabins in Hocking County.

The Sheriff is holding the three while the investigation continues and notes that there's the possibility of more arrests.

Auto Sales Continue To Plummet

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto sales plunged 38.4 per cent in the first 10 days of November to their second lowest level since 1959.

General Motors immediately responded with a new round of factory shutdowns and layoffs, while some industry spokesmen expressed fear of a possible breakdown in the nation's economy.

Sales for the period were 136,921, down from 250,178 in the same 1973 span. With eight selling days this year and nine a year ago, the daily rate was off 38.4 per cent.

Car sales a year ago were already beginning to feel the adverse effects of the energy crisis following 12 months of record performance.

Sales were at their lowest level for the period in 15 years with the exception of the 1970 span when GM was shut by a national strike.

"We're assuming this is the bottom of the trough, although it could go on like this for a couple months. But I don't know if conventional wisdom still applies to this situation," said one industry analyst.

The auto companies reported sales in October were off 27 per cent from the previous year and dropped to their lowest level in a decade.

For the calendar year to date, industry sales were down 22.1 per cent to 6,651,133, compared with 8,568,682 in the same 1973 span.

GM announced Wednesday it will shut three assembly plants starting Monday for a week each, laying off 7,200 workers. The plants — in Tarrytown, N.Y.; Van Nuys, Calif., and Willow Run, Mich. — build compact cars.

6 Murdered In Family; Clues Sought

AMITYVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — A couple and four of their five children have been found shot to death in their home in this wealthy Long Island community.

Police early today said they knew of no motive for the slayings of Ronald DeFeo Sr., 43; his wife, Louise, 42, and their children Dawn, 18, Allison 13, Mark 11, and John 9.

Police said there were no apparent signs of forced entry into the three-story gray frame building. And police said they planned to conduct a search of wooded land behind the house for the murder weapon.

Another son, Ronald DeFeo, 23, reported finding the bodies Wednesday evening after he returned from work at the Buick automobile dealership in Brooklyn where his father was employed as service manager, authorities said.

Mrs. DeFeo's father, Michael Brigante, owns the firm.

The bodies, all clad in nightclothes, were found in bedrooms on the second and top floors of the house.

Police would not comment on the time of deaths pending autopsies. Neighbors said they heard dogs barking at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday morning at the house.

Sgt. William Smith of the Amityville police said the victims were apparently shot while they were sleeping, and there were no signs of a struggle.

Queen Elizabeth Target Of Eggs

HALIFAX, England (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II appeared not to notice when two eggs were thrown at her as she stepped into her limousine here. One of the eggs splatted on the car, another hit the sidewalk.

Police say they arrested a woman, who was not identified, and said she would be charged later in the week.

The incident occurred Wednesday as the queen completed a tour of a large company in this industrial city.

Karl Wallenda Does Somersault

LONDON (AP) — Karl Wallenda, the 69-year-old high wire daredevil, did a somersault for free on a cable suspended 70 feet above Clapham Common just south of the Thames River. Then admitted that he "honestly wouldn't have done it for $10,000."

Wallenda braved high winds and torrential rains to perform the stunt Wednesday at the request of the American "Food for the Forgotten" group, which is trying to bring attention to the plight of the world's hungry.

"When they explained it might help the world's starving millions, I agreed," Wallenda said of the stunt.

"It really was one of the hardest things I've ever done," he added.

Death Ruled Suicide

Pickaway County Coroner Dr. Ray Carroll ruled suicide in the death of Paul W. Hill Jr., 39, Route 2, Ashville, 5:58 p.m. Wednesday. He died of an apparently self-inflicted gun shot wound.

Hill's wife and family, gone at the time of the incident, returned home finding a note on the shelf addressed to his wife.

Mrs. Hill notified a neighbor, who then contacted the Sheriff's Authorities.

Deputy James Deal went into the basement of the house where he found Hill's body.

Hill apparently shot himself in the chest with a .38 caliber revolver.

Funeral arrangements are being completed by the Margaram Funeral Home, Gahanna.

Court Hears Pleas, Denies Probation

Two men were arraigned and one denied a request for early release from a prison term in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Wednesday. Judge Guy G. Cline conducted court in the absence of regular Common Pleas Judge William Ammer.

Not guilty pleas were entered by Dennis Gaul and Lawrence Ray Reines, both of the Cleveland area. Gaul was charged with breaking and entering and grand theft at the Super X Drug Store and escape. Reines denied a charge of possession of hallucinogens which is allegedly his second offense of this nature.

Judge Cline denied a motion for shock probation filed by William Darling. Darling was convicted of a bad check charge and sentenced to the Ohio State Penitentiary for a term of 1-5 years on April 17.

Under the provisions of the shock probation statute a defendant can file for suspension of further execution of his sentence after he has served a portion of his term. This statute is aimed toward possible rehabilitation of first offenders.

With the court's denial of the motion, Darling will be returned to the Lucasville facility.

Middlemen Said Responsible For Most Of Food Price Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — High farm prices accounted for most of the gain in retail food prices last year but in 1974 it has been the middleman who has pushed up the family grocery bill, new government figures show.

During the first nine months, a market basket of farm-produced food cost an annual rate of $197 more than it did for all of 1973, the Agriculture Department said Wednesday.

Middlemen accounted for $166—about 84 per cent—of the increase while the share going to farmers went up $31 on an annual basis in the first three quarters.

In other economic developments, the Federal Reserve Board moved to pump more money into the nation's economy for the Christmas shopping season and Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton resurrected the proposal to raise gasoline taxes to provide additional revenues and encourage fuel conservation.

And President and Mrs. Ford signed a consumer pledge that the President said he hopes will be part of "a concerted mass effort to stop inflation."

Agriculture Department experts said the average market basket retail cost during the first three quarters of 1974 was $1,734 annually. Of that, middlemen got $1,003 while farmers received $731.

In 1973, which experienced soaring farm prices and federal price curbs on

Hike Asphalt Production

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Annual asphalt production of the Standard Oil Co. (Ohio) will jump about 30 million gallons beginning late this month with opening of a $6 million asphalt plant here, Sohio announced Wednesday.

The new plant is part of a $140 million plan to convert the Sohio refinery here to handling of high-sulfur content crude oil, said Gerhard Lindeman, Sohio's asphalt sales manager.

"Sulfur seems to improve the characteristics of commercialgrade asphalt, particularly its durability," Lindeman said. "Directing sulfur from our refining streams into asphalt helps Sohio meet its environmental obligations."

High-sulfur crude is more plentiful than its "cleaner" counterpart, Lindeman said, and yields more asphalt feedstock.

The new plant should produce about 84,000 gallons of commercial asphalt a day, enough to resurface 450 miles of fourlane highway, Lindeman said.

4 Detained In Murder

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)— Four members of the Iron Horsemen motorcycle gang remained in jail in lieu of bond today while their involvement in the Nov. 6 slaying of Michael Suttles, 18, of Hamilton, is considered by the Butler County grand jury.

Police told Butler County Judge William H. Hendrickson, that all four had made statements to investigators.

Bond has been continued at $250,000 for Curtis Cash, 25, of Hamilton, who is charged with aggravated murder. Bonds of $10,000 each were continued for Robert Allison, 25, Lebanon and Donald Webb, 24, and Roscoe Napier, both of Hamilton. The two are charged with obstructing justice.

Coroner Garret J. Boone said the victim died of three gunshot wounds. The body was later set afire with gasoline along a Butler County road where it was found, he said.

wholesalers and retailers in much of the year, the food basket cost 1,537, including $837 for middlemen and $700 for farmers.

Officials said the 1973 market basket cost was up $266 from 1972 and that the farm share accounted for $176—about 78 per cent—of the increase.

False IDs Under Attack By Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is launching a year-long effort to smoke out thousands of crooks hiding behind false identification papers.

Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe was to announce the project at a meeting today of about 60 government officials and private citizens. He has appointed them to a committee to determine the scope of the problem and develop recommendations for federal, state and local governments.

Saxbe has called the use of fake identification papers a substantial and growing problem contributing significantly to the nation's rising crime rate.

Justice Department officials say all sorts of crooks avoid detection and often perpetrate lucrative frauds through the use of false birth certificates, driver's licenses, passports, credit cards and other identifying papers.

Those documents have become relatively easy to obtain, the officials believe.

The scheme typically begins at a state or local bureau of vital statistics, said David Muchow, the department attorney who has coordinated the committee's formation.

"The individual starts by obtaining someone else's birth certificate, and he uses that to get a driver's license, Social Security card and other identification," he said in an interview.

The schemer usually tries to get the birth certificate of a dead person, making it easier to get the other papers and carry out transactions in that name. By impersonating a living individual, the schemer would risk being discovered when his own transactions crossed the path of the individual being impersonated.

Getting the birth certificate is fairly easy because few if any state and local record-keepers match death notices with birth records, Muchow said.

But the attorney said no one really knows the scope of the practice and finding out will be the committee's first chore.

David Carradine Fined, Sentenced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor David Carradine was fined $250 and placed on one year's probation after the star of the television series "Kung Fu" entered a plea of no contest to misdemeanor charges of mischief and trespass.

Municipal Court Judge Clarence A. Stromwall passed sentence Wednesday after Carradine entered the plea. The actor had been charged with breaking into a neighbor's Laurel Canyon home last Sept. 15 and smashing windows, rifling a bathroom medicine cabinet and overturning furniture.

Michael Loehner, the owner of the home, told police he returned home and followed a trail of blood leading to Carradine's home nearby. Authorities said Carradine cut his right arm in smashing the windows.

Rocky Promises No More Cash Gifts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller has reluctantly promised to make no gift to any federal employee if Congress confirms him as vice president.

"I think, Senator, it's going to be necessary that I do that," Rockefeller told Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., Wednesday after a hearing in which he was told repeatedly that his motives in making large cash gifts to public officials were open to serious question.

The former New York governor earlier said he did not want to foreclose the possibility that his money could be of help to any staff member or friend in government who faced dire medical expenses or other pressing humanitarian needs.

Rockefeller and more than a dozen other witnesses face further questioning today and Friday about the ways he has used the Rockefeller fortune and about his family's financing of a campaign biography. Despite the questions, assistant Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia said at the close of Wednesday's hearings that Rockefeller likely will be confirmed by Congress, barring any new and more damaging disclosures.

Byrd, a key member of the Senate Rules Committee and one of Rockefeller's toughest questioners, said he will vote for the nomination as of now. But he said he would do so with some reservations.

"Nothing has been said here to warrant an adverse finding against you," Rockefeller was told by Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, one of his leading backers.

My Lai Massacre Blamed On Task Force Orders

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's own investigation of the My Lai massacre of possibly 347 Vietnamese civilians concludes it resulted primarily from orders given by some task force officers.

The "Peers Report" released Wednesday says that no orders were given to kill everyone in My Lai but that some of the GIs involved thought that had been implicit in orders they were given.

Briefings by Lt. Col. Frank A. Barker, commander of the task force, and Capt. Ernest L. Medina

Sue Lyon Starts Divorce Action

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP) — Actress Sue Lyon and an inmate at the Colorado State Penitentiary were married at the prison a year ago this month. Now, she has filed for divorce.

Miss Lyons' lawyer, Joseph P. Jenkins, said divorce papers were filed Tuesday, claiming the marriage to convicted murderer Cotton Adamson is "irretrievably broken."

Miss Lyons, 28, who starred in "Lolita" at age 14, had been living near the prison and visiting Adamson regularly. Jenkins said she moved to the mountain resort town of Estes Park about a month ago.

FBI Enters Probe Of Alleged Kidnap

OAK HARBOR, Ohio (AP) — Authorities say the FBI has entered the investigation into the disappearance and apparent abduction of an Oak Harbor woman.

Gretchen Musser, 44, has been missing since a break-in early Tuesday at the sporting goods store she operated with her husband. Police said they believe she may have interrupted the thieves.

Police Check Theft Reports

Two petit theft reports are being investigated by Circleville Police.

James Hart, 322 Lancaster Pike, told officer that thieves entered the garage behind his house Wednesday or Thursday and took an 18-inch tree saw valued at $3.49, pruners on an eight-foot pole valued at $5.40, and an automobile tire.

Ralph Trigner, Route 3, who parked his truck in the Second National Bank lot at 9 p.m. Wednesday, told officers he noticed the gas cap missing when he returned at 11:30 p.m.

Tigner also said nearly a half tank of gasoline was missing.

Yule Stamps Available

Two 10 cent traditional Christmas postage stamps are on sale at the Circleville Post Office.

This year's Christmas Masterpiece stamp is based upon a detail from "The Perussis Altarpiece," a large oil painting which hangs in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. Designer of the stamp is Bradbury Thompson of Riverside, Conn.

The stamp features an angel taken from the center of the five panels making up the large altarpiece painting. The angel is one of two in the central panel. One is depicted in flight on either side of the upright position of the cross that dominates the panel.

The identity of the artist who painted the altarpiece is unknown. The painting is known to have been done in 1480, although it is not known where it was hung upon completion.

The second Christmas stamp is taken from an 1853 lithographic print, "The Road - Winter," by the firm Currier and Ives. The drawing was done on the lithography stone by Otto Knirsch, one of the celebrated American artists Nathaniel Currier employed to produce drawings that were to be colored on an assembly line of girls, each of whom applied a single color.

The stamp was designed by Steven Donahos of Westport, Conn. The design shows a man and a woman in a horse-drawn sleigh moving through a wintry landscape.

Say Israel Can't Talk With PLO

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Howard Metzenbaum says Israel cannot negotiate with the Palestine Liberation Organization headed by Yasir Arafat because the PLO is committed to elimination of Israel and shows no change of heart.

The Ohio Democrat also says he is rethinking his opposition to confirming Nelson Rockefeller, a Republican, as vice president.

Arafat, said Metzenbaum in interviews Wednesday, insists on a united Palestine "and that means the abrogation, the termination, of the state of Israel."

"Obviously you cannot negotiate with others who are prepared to liquidate them," the lame-duck senator said. He also said that involvement of Arafat "and some of his ilk" in terrorist activities makes it "very difficult to negotiate with a terrorist, particularly with one who doesn't seem to be even a reformed terrorist."

As for the Rockefeller nomination, Metzenbaum said that groups on the political far right have raised "such a hue and cry...that I think sometimes you have to judge a man by the nature of his opposition."

"And in that respect," he added, "it gives me cause for concern as to whether or not I should stand in the way of his being confirmed."

Athens Building Leveled By Fire

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Fire late Wednesday night and early today destroyed the former Athens Flooring Co. building here.

The two-story, frame structure was being used as a furniture warehouse and also housed the offices of the Athens Milk Cooperative. No dollar estimate of damage was available.

Firemen said the blaze apparently started on the second floor but had not determined the cause.

Units from the Athens and neighboring Richland departments fought the blaze.

There were no injuries.

Consolidation Happy Over Settlement

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Officials of Consolidation Coal Co., one of the biggest coal mine operators in Ohio, expressed relief over tentative agreement on a new contract with the United Mine Workers just two days after a nationwide strike began.

The company, which reported it is spending $150,000 a day in Ohio to keep mines safe for reopening, issued a statement saying, "We don't know the details yet, but we understand it is an excellent package and we're delighted that it came so soon."

Meanwhile, the chairman of Ohio's Energy Emergency Commission said industries in the state will be in good shape if the pact agreed to by negotiators in Washington Wednesday is ratified by the union membership.

David C. Sweet noted that the ratification vote is expected to take 10 days to two weeks.

"If that is the case," he said, "Ohio is well prepared to withstand the strike because our coal stockpiles are sufficient to carry us through a strike possibly as long as 30 days."

But he said the commission still plans to meet Friday "because there are possibilities that the agreement could be turned down by the UMW membership."

"We intend to meet and discuss and approve the contingency plans to Ohio is prepared to respond should the contract ratification not develop," Sweet said.

The commission has determined that a strike lasting longer than 30 days could affect as many as 250,000 workers in Ohio.

Coal shippers who handle some 76 million tons annually through Cincinnati indicated there will be no supply shortage if the tentative contract is ratified.

The shippers, who transport coal by both barge on the Ohio River and by rail, said there was enough coal mined before the strike to continue shipments for three weeks.

"I don't anticipate any problems now at all," said James Hatfield III, general manager of Hatfield Coal Co.

"There is coal in railroad cars that will move to Ohio River barges. As a whole, the pipeline of railroad cars and barges will keep moving for a couple of weeks."

Seek School Aid Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio General Assembly has been asked for a massive increase in state aid to local schools by a resolution of the Ohio School Boards Association.

Edward S. Foster Jr., association president and a member of the Toledo Board of Education, said many candidates elected in last week's general election promised during their campaign they would take prompt action if elected.

"Now the OSBA delegates, which represent about 96 per cent of all Ohio's public school districts, are expecting the necessary follow through," he said.

The call came in a resolution adopted by the OSBA during its annual business meeting in Columbus. The resolution said increased support is necessary because more than 70 per cent of all new local support levies were defeated by voters, while schools are facing double-digit inflation.

A Page Of Opinion

Speaking Of Crimes

Judges every now and then show ingenuity in sentencing defendants brought before them. Instead of the usual fines, prison terms or probation something more useful to society is handed down—a term of picking up debris discarded along highways for those convicted of littering, for example.

A San Francisco judge demonstrated the technique when he sentenced defendants in a paper label price-fixing case. Along with assorted fines and suspended sentences, the judge ordered five of the individuals involved to make no fewer than 12 speeches each to civic groups on the lessons they learned from their experience.

Further, perhaps to insure the speeches did not stray from the subject, the judge ordered the men to report back to him later on what they had to say. It should be an interesting experience.

Not only will some luncheon clubs have a variety of free speakers available to them, but a precedent of sorts has been established for other judges.

When Readers Write

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, November 12. — Pro Bono Pulicco and his cousins, Vox Populi, souled forth loud and clear in my mail today:

Dr. Richard D. Mudd, M.D., Saginaw, Mich., writes regarding my column recommending that President Gerald Ford pardon some other figures in American history, including Major Andre and Dr. Samuel A. Mudd: "I appreciate the plug you gave my grandfather," writes the Saginaw doctor. "We have been trying for many years to persuade Congress to exonerate him. In 1961 Congress approved a plaque in his honor but we are advised continually that the President has no authority to exonerate Dr. Mudd or grant him amnesty."

Dr. Mudd encloses a recent resolution passed in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts:

"Whereas, Dr. Samuel A. Mudd, a southern Maryland doctor, treated the broken leg of John Wilkes Booth, injured when the actor jumped from a theater box after assassinating President Abraham Lincoln at Ford's Theater in our nation's Capital in April, 1865; and

"Whereas, Dr. Mudd was fulfilling his sworn duty as a physician by treating an injured person of whose crime he was unaware; and

"Whereas, Although history has subsequently revealed that Dr. Samuel A. Mudd was innocent of any involvement in the assassination, as a result of the hysteria of the times the doctor was convicted as a conspirator in said assassination and imprisoned; and

"Whereas, President Andrew Johnson gave a pardon to Dr. Mudd, which pardon, however, does not confirm innocence but merely grants forgiveness; and

"Whereas, The good name of the Mudd family has suffered during the past century for the wrong to its ancestor; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Massachusetts House of Representatives respectfully urges the President of the United States to issue a proclamation declaring the innocence of Dr. Samuel A. Mudd of any complicity in the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln."

Lots of luck, Doctor.

Peter M. Lloyd, Melrose, Mass., articulately resents my annual slur on the National Rifle Association (NRA):

"The NRA is composed of people of all races, creeds, nationalities and economic strata. Its principal purpose is to promote and foster the growth and development of shooting sports in the United States. By default, it has become the principal spokesman against legislation designed to prevent private ownership of firearms for the legitimate right of defending one's life when the law authorizes the use of deadly force. This is ironic, in that most people who belong to the NRA are hunters, target shooters and collectors of antique weapons, and only secondarily defensive shooters; whereas most people who use firearms solely

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — If the stock market affected only a relatively few very rich individuals the losses of recent years might be easier to swallow. As it is, they're jammed in the throat of economic society.

Harvard University reports the market value of its endowment and other investments dropped $172 million in fiscal 1974. On June 30 its books showed a total value of $1.19 billion; a year earlier the figure was $1.36 billion.

The rise and fall of endowment values is reflected in figures from the New York Stock Exchange that show a total value of $1.1 billion in 1949, $7.4 billion in 1971, $8.8 billion in 1972 and $7.5 billion in 1973.

That figure has probably, in fact most likely, fallen another billion dollars in 1974 as the bear market continues. More than a few top-flight schools have, as a result, been forced to impose tight budget restraints.

Philanthropists, foundations, insurance companies, banks and workers with an interest in their pension fund all are feeling the impact of lower stock prices, and all must make adjustments.

CNA Financial Corp. revealed it has considered passing on some of its assets to one of its operating units, Continental Casualty Co., partly because of declining values in the latter's portfolio.

Continental Casualty's surplus has been sharply cut because of the declining values and adverse claims experience, according to material circulated to CNA stockholders by Loews Corp., which seeks to buy CNA.

The material suggests that one consequence of the decline would be to force the insurance company to curtail the amount of new business it accepts, a situation in which no company likes to be caught.

Okay, Pete, be pleasantly surprised.

Frederick G. Brownell, Grosse Pointe Park, Mich., sends in a puzzler: "Superman, The Shadow, Doc Savage, The Black Avenger... all are in deadly danger. So are Nick Carter, Leadwood Dick, Buffalo Bill, Calamity Jane and a score or more of other American folk heroes of this century and the last. What the danger consists of, where it comes from, what is being done to avert it, and how many individual members of the public can, without cost to themselves, aid in the rescue operation would, I believe, make a story of considerable appeal to your readers. If you're interested, just say so."

Suits me, Fred, but first roll me in your Rosetta Stone.

"How do you know they're my fingerprints when you haven't even called the F.B.I.?"

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

About three times a year I can count on an attack of bursitis in my shoulder. It takes 10 days out of my life with each attack. Is there any way to prevent it?

Mrs. B. McL., Ore.

Dear Mrs. McL.: You have the sympathy of everyone who has ever had bursitis. This is a painful and disabling condition.

A bursa is a protective lubricating sac found near joint cavities. The one in the shoulder joint is probably the one most frequently inflamed.

Pain, swelling, tenderness and, especially, marked limitation of motion characterize this disorder.

Acute episodes last for about 10 days, then disappear with treatment, leaving the joint relatively free of pain.

Some people have chronic bursitis, responsible for constant pain and irritation and interference with the free motion of the shoulder.

Other joints of the body may be affected. "Housemaid's knee," "tailor's bottom," and "miner's elbow" are some descriptive terms for bursitis.

Recurring attacks of bursitis should be thoroughly investigated to determine the basic reason for your problem.

Repeated injury during housework, a low-grade arthritis and gout can be causative factors. Exposure to cold and drafts must be considered.

Special studies of the joint by X-ray, known as "arthrography," reveal less obvious causes for repeated attacks of bursitis.

Deposits of calcium and uric acid can be determined by extracting fluid from the joint and studying its content.

Complete rest, supplemented by pain-relieving medications, can reduce the severity and the duration of bursitis.

Injections of zycloaine and cortisone bring remarkably fast relief from the intense pain of this most unpleasant condition.

Ice packs applied to the point of greatest tenderness are beneficial. The tendency to use hot applications for the relief of pain must be avoided in cases of acute bursitis.

Massage and manipulation, unless specifically directed by your own doctor, can be troublesome and should be resisted.

Dear Editor:

Federal Reserve—As the monopolies tighten their grip on both the economy and the state, they are able to try new attacks. We are seeing such an attack in the monetary field.

The spiraling inflation is more of a problem for the banks and other lending institutions. The Federal Reserve Bank, in alliance with the largest banking conglomerates, is in the midst of an unprecedented attempt to force the country's economy into a mold of its liking. Through the manipulation of credit and money supply they are out to have their way, even if it does result in a depression. This is an operation of state-monopoly capitalism on a new level. They openly say their policies will result in more unemployment, less housing, and that it will destroy small business, even in banking. But, the scheme will transfer additional billions into the coffers of the banking empires.

What is characteristic of this moment also is that the created shortages are being transferred into grand larceny rip-offs of the pocket-book. Extortion by way of created shortages will continue as a policy of monopoly capitalism. The crisis of shortages is not a thing of the past. The talk in Washington about cutting back on oil and meat imports is in line with the policy of extortion, creating shortages in the interest of corporate profits.

The cuts in the standard of living have become a continuing long-term pattern. This is also something new. The U.S. Department of Labor admits, for example, that from April, 1973, to April, 1974, the real wages of industrial workers declined by 7.6 per cent. For people living on fixed incomes this decline is even steeper.

Circleville High School Class Of 1934 Reunites

The Circleville High School graduating class of 1934 recently celebrated its 40th Anniversary at Steele's Restaurant. Thirty-two members and their guests attended.

A short program was conducted with Dale Ankrom acting as master of ceremonies. Each class member gave a short resume of their family, employment and activities during the past years. A short silent memorial prayer was given in memory of the 15 deceased members from the original 72 of the class. Letters were read from Helen Melson Cruse, Dorothy Bartley Baughman, Harold Baughman, Charlotte Moore Pace, Ned Hitchcock, Margaret McCollister Plum and William Stewart.

Ned Harden showed slides of early Circleville which were quite informative and interesting to all attending. Visiting occupied most of the delightful evening. A beautiful flower arrangement adorned the table which consisted of fall mums using the class colors, "Gold and Blue". James Smith was given this arrangement as he had traveled the farthest to attend, and had been unable to participate in any reunions of the class. Addresses of two members were unavailable, Paul Davis and James Packard.

'Spirit Of Ingenuity' Monday Club Program

Monday Club met at Pickaway County Historical Society, Nov. 11th, with Mrs. Frank Estes, president, conducting the brief business meeting. Articles made by the blind and the 1975 Ohioana calendars, annual projects of the club, were for sale. The sale will be continued at the next meeting.

A silent tribute was paid to the late Mrs. Clarence Peters Jr., Cincinnati, president of Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs of which Monday Club is a charter member.

Mrs. E. Miller Hundley presented the program "The Spirit Of Ingenuity." Elias Howe, inventor of the sewing machine, was chosen to represent inventors.

Ingenuity means inventive talent. Invention is the making of something that did not exist before. An invention should therefore be new, but it should also be useful and workable.

Some important inventions about the time of the sewing machine were the telegraph, submarine cable, typewriter, safety match, elevator, rayon fabric, bicycle and Pullman sleeping car.

Mrs. Hundley said that Elias Howe was born in 1819, one of eight children of a poor farmer. He was always frail and slightly lame. When he was 16, he found employment in a cotton mill.

At the age of 21 he was married. Three children were born to the young couple. To add to the family income, the young wife sewed. Howe could not be a silent witness to this poorly paid labor without becoming interested in affording aid. His first attempt was a complete failure; the needle was pointed at both ends with an eye in the middle. Finally after repeated failures, he conceived the idea of using two threads, and making the stitch by means of a shuttle and curved needle with an eye near the point. In October of 1844 he made a rough model of his sewing machine, all wood and wire, and found that it could actually sew.

A coal and wood dealer named Fisher agreed to board Howe and his family, to give Howe a work-shop in his house and to advance $500. necessary for the construction of the first machine. In return he was to become half owner of the patent should Howe succeed in obtaining one. There were many problems and disappointments, but in April 1845 he sewed a seam four yards long with his machine. In July, Howe sewed the seams in two woolen suits—one for Fisher and one for himself; the sewing was so well done that it promised to outlast the cloth.

He obtained a patent in 1845. Everyone praised the machine, but no one would invest in it. Fisher became disheartened and withdrew from the partnership.

Howe had to work on the railroad as an engineer until his health failed. He then sent his brother Amasa to England with the machine. William Thomas was impressed with the possibilities and offered $1,250. for the machine and also engaged Howe at $15. a week to work for him as an umbrella and corset maker. He only worked for Thomas for eight months even though he had sent for his family. He returned to America pawning his model and his patent papers to pay for the return passage. His wife died. The ship on which he had sent home his few household goods had gone to the bottom of the ocean. This was his darkest hour.

While he was in England, several imitations of his machine had been made and sold. They were well received by the industry. He sued to make his rights to the patent clear. In August 1850 he started to make

Mrs. Brent Rhoads Feted With Shower

Mrs. Brent Rhoads was honored Sunday afternoon with a baby shower hosted by Mrs. James Minor and Miss Rosella Prindle at the home of Mrs. Robert Rhoads.

Gifts were placed in a cradle decorated with streamers. Games were played and won by Mrs. David Rhoads, Mrs. P.J. Ryal, Mrs. Gary Butts and the guest of honor. All prizes were given to the guest of honor.

Refreshments of a fruit dessert, wafers, mixed nuts, mints, punch and coffee were served.

Attending the shower were: Mrs. Howard C. Rhoads Sr., Mrs. David Rhoads and Jeanne, Mrs. Neil Rhoads and Joy, Mrs. Harold Binkley, Mrs. Beatrice Blubaugh, Mrs. John Rhoads, Miss Rosella Prindle.

Mrs. Gary Van Buskirk, Mrs. Greg Fouch, Mrs. Paul Rhoads, Mrs. Keith Shelt, Mrs. Letha Shelt, Mrs. Gary Butts, Mrs. James Minor, Mrs. Robert Rhoads, Mrs. P. J. Ryal, Mrs. Nancy Enoch and Miss Dolores Bihl.

Sending gifts as they were unable to attend were: Mrs. Frank Rhoads, Mrs. Carl Blubaugh, Mrs. William Friece, Mrs. Marjorie Rhoads, Mrs. Steve Blubaugh, Mrs. Michael Rhoads and Jeanne Peters.

machines with a partner named Bliss. About this time there were sewing machine riots caused by labor leaders. Howe's sewing machine was denounced as a menace to thousands of men and women who worked in the shops.

Finally, all other manufacturers were compelled to pay tribute to him. In six years his royalties grew from $300 to more than $200,000 a year. His invention made him famous. During the years 1858-67 there were recorded nearly 300 patents affecting the sewing machine taken out by other inventors. Howe was always ready to help along such improvements by giving advice and often money. He fought for his rights but once they were conceded, he was a generous rival.

OLD-FASHIONED COOKING—Young women of St. Philip's Episcopal Church are shown making mincemeat using an original recipe of the late Mrs. Frank (Nannie) Davis for the annual Country Store. The Friday event will have a variety of articles for the holidays along with the mincemeat and homemade baked goods and luncheon served from 11 a.m. until 1 p.m. From left to right are: Mary Allardyce, Carolyn Capper, Karen Schieman and Susan Parker.

See Tax Savings With Ex-Convicts

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tax savings and increased revenues would total $17 million a year if companies around the country would hire and retain 20,000 ex-convicts, the president of the National Alliance of Businessmen says.

John Condon of Washington said 20,000 gainfully employed former prisoners would generate $2.8 million in federal taxes and bring about savings of $3.1 million and $11.4 million, respectively, in reduced welfare and unemployment costs.

He addressed about 300 businessmen, labor leaders and corrections officials attending the Governor's Conference on Employing the Ex-offender Wednesday.

The conference, one of a series planned throughout the nation, was co-sponsored by the National Council on Crime and Delinquency and the National Alliance of Businessmen.

Another speaker, Leo Perlis of Washington, national director of community services activities for the AFL-CIO, called for union-management cooperation in employing ex-offenders.

Perlis said a study of all trade unions showed none has a policy against admitting ex-convicts.

"What we do with the ex-offender in the long run will determine how we fare with the problems of crime in our society," he said.

He encouraged businessmen to divorce themselves of emotional attitudes about prisons and offenders and set an example for rehabilitation.

Earlier, John R. Armore, director of the NAB's ex-offender programs, said he had toured several Ohio prisons and found that the state "is on the move in resolving the problems of the ex-offender."

But while there has been much progress, he added, "there is still a long way to go."

Bennett J. Cooper, Ohio corrections director, stressed the importance of getting information from the business community about the kinds of jobs available in order to offer the correct vocational training in state institutions.

ATTENTIVE AUDIENCE—The children's story hour at Pickaway County Public Library captured the full attention of the youngsters as Karen Amey, in the center and Diane McDaniels, on the right, dressed in Pilgrim costumes relate the Thanksgiving story. The program was at the time a style show for adults was conducted at the library promoting fashion books and magazines during National Book Week. Mrs. Amey used puppets and other props including Indian headbands for the children in portraying the reaping of the first harvest and sharing it with the friendly Indians.

Wolterman Neared Vote Upset

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Over-shadowed by the upset of Democrat Rep. Thomas Luken on the other side of Cincinnati, Edward W. Wolterman came within 9,000 votes of staging the surprise of Ohio's congressional elections Nov. 5.

Rep. Donald D. Clancy, conservative seven-term Republican who was re-elected in 1972 by almost 45,000 votes, passed Wolterman in the stretch in Cincinnati's 2nd District. But, it was a tight one.

Early in the counting, the news wires showed Wolterman leading Clancy. The 26-year-old former social worker held that early lead until the votes began coming in from Clancy's suburban strongholds in western Hamilton County.

Wolterman ended up with 47 per cent of the vote.

While this eye-popper was going on, Republican Willis D. Gradison Jr. edged out Luken in Cincinnati's 1st District.

Wolterman won a lot of stature in his second political outing. He showed promise two years ago when as a student at Miami University he pulled 44 per cent of the vote running for the legislature in a GOP district.

Wolterman waged an aggressive campaign this time, vowing to bring change and attacking Clancy, 53, for what Wolterman claimed was lack of solid achievement in Congress.

But, his campaign was plagued by lack of money and he complained bitterly when he received no funds from a major Democratic fund-raiser in Cleveland.

Wolterman also became angered at his party for leaving his picture off a sample ballot mailed to voters in the district. Wolterman said it was retribution exacted because he squawked about money. Democratic officials said it was an oversight.

Wolterman's election effort did not go unnoticed in Hamilton County Democratic circles where he became known as "a candidate that has to be reckoned with."

That probably means he will be running again in two years and money will be forthcoming.

One candidate compared Clancy's narrow victory "to a mild heart attack, a damn good warning."

Clancy, a former mayor of Cincinnati, didn't campaign actively, perhaps relying on his record and membership in the prestigious House Armed Services Committee.

Clancy is almost certain to face a strong Democratic challenge in 1976, but he may find his newly discovered vulnerability will be tested before the general election.

One GOP legislator said Clancy would likely be challenged in the Republican primary.

"He can be beaten," said the Republican lawmaker.

Boston built the first practical subway in the United States in 1897.

Dick, Jane And Spot Have Been Replaced

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Middletown school officials, moving with new concepts of women in modern life, have adopted a new supplemental reader for elementary grades.

The brightly colored, large-type book shows women in business, women in laboratories and girls dreaming of going to the moon.

The book has come a long way from the era of Dick, Jane and Spot.

"All of us are much more aware," said Norman Hayes, director of curriculum for Middletown schools. "I see things today I wouldn't have seen five years ago."

Hayes said he was shocked by texts and pictures, catching hidden biases and connotations he hadn't seen before.

Multiethnic tests, incorporating all races and nationalities, are available and utilized, Hayes said, but nonsexist texts are a relatively recent demand of educators.

"People didn't think about it too much until about five years ago," said Hayes, adding that texts were not scrutinized for sex bias in Middletown schools until even later.

"Now the schools are ahead of some publishing companies and are not satisfied with the selections," he said. "We've gone to paperbacks in some cases."

Federal laws didn't cause the change. Local interest in the problem did the job.

"There are a lot of women in the schools and they pushed for change with no organized attack," Hayes said. That meant the change came slowly.

The old reader is not the only place where the women's place has traditionally been in the home. Hayes said sex roles also occur in social studies, math and drama books at all levels.

"There appears to be more sex roles, more prejudice and more stereotyping in English and social studies books," said Hayes.

"It's just that they were written with Puritan concepts, inherent in society. Now those concepts show up glaringly."

Although the female roles shown in many texts have improved, Hayes said he has noticed another bias—against men.

"Men need to come up in other areas—teachers, librarians and the kids need to see a picture of a man washing dishes."

All texts are examined for bias from first grade through high school, although Hayes said selection is more difficult at the high school level.

"But, it's more important for the lower levels to get this wide role identification," Hayes said. "It's more crucial."

After all, if Jane is building bird houses and Dick is washing windows, it's only a few years until she wants to take drafting and he's going to be interested in dietetics, Hayes said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

He Uses Their Money For His Charities

DEAR ABBY: Our son, who has always been a very seriousminded and responsible boy, has just started college away from home.

We opened a checking account for him, and agreed to send him through college as long as his grades held up. We get all his cancelled checks, and were shocked to learn that so far he has written checks totalling $350 to support a far out religious group he became interested in since he started college.

My husband has worked hard for his money. We support our own church, and don't feel that our money should be used in this manner.

Our son has worked and earned some money, which is also in his checking account, and he claims that he is supporting this religious cult with HIS money, not ours.

He is a sensitive boy, but easily persuaded, and we fear he has been taken in. We are not made of money, and want to know how to handle this situation. Thank you.

UPSET MOTHER

DEAR UPSET: You agreed to subsidize your son's education-not his religious charities. Pay his tuition and other related college expenses and let him donate his hard-earned money (not yours) to whatever he wishes.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter has a son, 9, and a daughter, 7. In the past, when I've been asked to keep the children overnight at my apartment, I've had to bed them down together in a large double bed because that's the only sleeping accommodations I have for them.

I am now of the opinion that the time has come when they should not be sharing one bed. When I told my daughter this, and offered to go to their home to stay with the kiddies, where each child has a bed alone, she said: "Well, if that's the way your thinking is, I might as well have a sitter come in." She gave me the impression that she thought I was an evil-minded old lady.

Abby, my training back in the "old days" is responsible for my thinking, and if I'm wrong, please tell me.

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: If you're wrong, we both are. Boys and girls that age should be separated at bedtime, but no one should make a big deal of it.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law and I have a running discussion regarding the "normalcy" of her calling my wife three or four times a day, and expecting my wife to call her a similar number of times a day-each and every day!

To make matters worse, many of the calls wind up in arguments over petty things, which is bad for my wife's blood pressure.

When I tell my wife that I call my own mother only two or three times a week, even though I love her dearly, she claims I am "abnormal." Then she cites the case of a relative who calls his mother four times a day even though he is married and has two children. She considers that "normal" and I violently disagree.

Have you any helpful thoughts on this matter?

"ABNORMAL SON-IN-LAW"

DEAR AB: Quit going on about what's "normal" and what isn't, and stick to your own problem. If you feel that your wife's telephone conversations are too frequent and upsetting to her, then simply suggest that she limit them. The rest is up to her.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MOTHER OF TWINS" IN K.C.: Don't dress them alike just because YOU think they look so "cute". When they reach an age where they have individual preferences, let THEM decide whether they want to dress alike. Encourage individuality.

Of the two islands that form New Zealand, South Island is the larger. But 70 per cent of New Zealanders live and work on North Island, which has more than two-thirds of the Pacific country's industries.

PLAN BAZAAR—Mrs. Donald Myers, left, and Mrs. David Beavers look over bazaar items for the Emmett Chapel United Methodist Women's Christmas bazaar scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday at Emmett Chapel Church, located in Logan Elm Village. Items to be featured include Christmas decorations, handmade jewelry, baked goods, baby toys, dried flower arrangements, terrariums, and other handmade items such as aprons, baby bibs, and potholders. The ladies will also have soup and sandwiches for sale. Funds from the bazaar will benefit Missionary Outreach. Mrs. Steven Drew is chairman and Mrs. Beavers is assistant.

THANK YOU, PICKAWAY COUNTIANS!

FOR YOUR OUTSTANDING SUPPORT!

I am sincerely grateful for the dedicated work of many Pickaway County friends and am deeply appreciative of each voter who made the Nov. 5th election a great success.

As your senator-elect I look forward to working with Pickaway Countians as a personal friend and a dependable legislator.

Please know your confidence is a real inspiration — and I welcome the opportunity to be of service to you at the state level in Columbus.

SAVE ABOUT $680 OPERATING COSTS. '75 CHEVY PICKUP VS. COMPARABLE '74*

1975 Half-Ton 350 V8 Fleetside Pickup

Based on GM Proving Grounds mileage tests and extended maintenance intervals for Chevy's best-selling 1975 pickup—projected through 50,000 miles.

Chevy is serious about truck economy. For 1975, Chevrolet has made meaningful advances designed to lower the costs of operating this C10 Pickup. Based on GM Proving Grounds mileage tests and new extended maintenance intervals, projected through 50,000 miles of driving, savings in operating costs can be as much as $680 compared to last year's comparably-equipped model.

Let's look at this specific model: the popular C10 Half-Ton V8 Pickup.*

This is Chevy's best-selling pickup and it offers outstanding potential for lower costs of operation. Projected savings based on GM Proving Grounds tests are shown in the box at right. These savings, of course, will vary depending on equipment, loads, operating conditions, driving habits and the price of gasoline.

More miles per gallon definitely helps lower the cost of ownership.

Comparing this 1975 Chevy C10 Half-Ton Pickup* with its 1974 counterpart in the GM Proving Grounds City/Suburban Driving Schedule, the '75 Half-Ton, using unleaded gasoline, showed about a 14% reduction in fuel consumption over the '74 model using leaded fuel. As detailed in the box at right, this would amount to net savings of $343 in 50,000 miles. Again, these savings will vary depending on equipment, loads, operating conditions and the price of gasoline.

New extended maintenance intervals help reduce operating costs.

Compare maintenance costs for the same two pickups. Following the Maintenance Schedule for recommended service, this '75 C10 Half-Ton Pickup, using unleaded fuel, could save about $337 on parts, lubricants and labor over the comparable '74 model, using leaded fuel, projected through 50,000 miles of driving. That's because this new '75 C10 model has a catalytic converter and High Energy Ignition and needs fewer scheduled changes for spark plugs, oil, and filters, needs fewer chassis lubes, and has no points or ignition condensers to replace.

AS TESTED IN GM PROVING GROUNDS CITY/SUBURBAN DRIVING SCHEDULE, THIS 1975 CHEVY C10, USING UNLEADED FUEL, SHOWS ABOUT A 14% REDUCTION IN FUEL CONSUMPTION OVER A COMPARABLE '74 MODEL USING LEADED FUEL. THAT'S 700 FEWER GALLONS IN 50,000 MILES. COST FIGURES COULD VARY, DEPENDING ON THE PRICE OF LEADED AND UNLEADED FUEL IN LOCAL AREAS. HOWEVER, AT A PRICE OF $4.00 PER GALLON FOR UNLEADED FUEL ALLOWING A ONE-CENT PER GALLON INCREASE OVER LEADED FUEL AS PERMITTED BY FEDERAL REGULATIONS, THIS WOULD REPRESENT A NET SAVINGS OF

WHERE IT'S A PLEASURE TO DO BUSINESS

The United Methodist Youth Group of the Zion United Methodist Church, The Soul Seekers, met recently in the home of Michelle and Lisa Barr.

Officers elected for the new year were: Linda Leatherwood, president; Michelle Barr, secretary; Carla Edington, treasurer; and Marla Cook, sgt.-at-arms.

Plans were finalized for the preparing of food plates for the elderly at Thanksgiving time.

A skating party will be held by the group on Nov. 25 at the Circle D Rink in Circleville. Hours will be from 7 to 9 p.m.

The Harrison Township Emergency Squad made the following runs this past week: Nov. 4th, traffic accident at intersection of St. Paul Road and Circleville-Groveport Road, no injuries; Nov. 9, traffic accident at intersection of East Ringgold-Northern Road and South Bloomfield-Royalton Road, five injured, all transported to Berger Hospital.

There were no fire runs during the week.

The annual pancake and sausage dinner sponsored by the South Bloomfield Booster Club will be held on Sunday. Serving will begin at 1 p.m. and will continue thru the dinner hour. All the pancakes you can eat. The event will be held at the Municipal Building.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark and Mark were visitors in the Ashville area for the past two weeks. The Clark family now resides in the Virgin Islands.

Featheringham's Gift Shop will hold their annual Christmas Open House on Saturday, from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Everyone is most welcome to attend!

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peters of Route 1, Groveport, will celebrate their 66th wedding anniversary on Nov. 25. They will be honored with a family dinner on Thanksgiving Day in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Everett O. Peters.

Two birthdays will be observed also, the honored couple's son Everett who will celebrate his birthday on November 24th and their great-grandson, Randy Thompson, who will be celebrating his twelfth birthday on Nov. 26.

The Ashville Pythian Sisters met in the K.P. Hall last Tuesday evening for the regular monthly meeting. Most Excellent Chief Gladys Rush presided.

A letter was read from the Central Ohio Planning Committee urging more Pythinas to become active in the organization. A monetary donation was made to the Springfield Pythian Home Christmas Fund.

The Excellent Junior Betty B. Smith, Excellent Senior Judy Campbell and Manager Francile Peters draped the charter for Sister Edith Hudson. A poem was read by Pearl Fortner, prayer by Madge Baum and special music by Marilyn Sabine.

Mrs. Hudson's name will now be entered on the Ashville Page of the Gold Book at the Medina Home.

The charter was also draped for Past Grand Chief Bessie McInturf. Mrs. Peters and Mrs. Baum attended the Memorial Service for Mrs. McInturf.

The members will serve a Kiwanis Club dinner on Nov. 26. Any members wishing to help are urged to do so. Members were reminded of the District Convention to be held in Circleville on Nov. 13.

The next regular meeting of the Temple will be Nov. 19. Serving on the social committee will be Marilyn Sabine, Jean Schiff, Mildred Fullen and Mona Morrison.

The South Bloomfield Booster Club met recently and officers were elected for the coming year. Serving as president will be Barbara Pettibone; vice-president Carl Hemming and secretary-treasurer Lucille Webster. It was reported that there were 200 attending the Halloween wiener roast which was sponsored by the club.

A card party for the public will be held in the Municipal Building on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Goeblicher of Conneaut, will be the houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Peters, from Wednesday thru Sunday.

On Wednesday Mrs. Goeblicher and Mrs. Peters attended the Pythian Sister Convention in Circleville.

Saturday evening the two couples will attend the dinner-reception at the Marriott Inn in Columbus for Supreme Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, George Thompson.

Results of the Ashville Belles Tuesday Morning Housewives Bowling League for Nov. 12 were: high single game, Bea Smith, 221; high three-game series, 583; high team game, Lovely Lady No. 1, 729; high team series, Lovely Lady No. 1, 1929.

Becky Foreman, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Richard Foreman, was the guest speaker at the Nov. 5 meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club. Becky told of her experiences as an exchange student to Central America, showing slides and explaining her trip. As usual Becky did a very fine job.

The Rev. Starling Morrow of the Village United Methodist Church has been welcomed into the club as a new member. Prospective new member is Jeff Singleton.

Members were urged to sell ads for the annual Kiwanis Paper. Money to be given to Roger Southward or Bill Huston.

Bill Glitt announced that the fruit cakes will arrive within the next week. If you are interested in purchasing some of the cakes contact any member of the club.

Members are also reminded that dues are now to be paid for the coming year. An interclub was being planned for Nov. 23 at the Holiday Inn.

Grange News

NEBRASKA GRANGE

Nebraska Grange met Nov. 5 with worthy master Edward Crites conducting the meeting.

Resolutions of respect were read for the late Hazel Peters. A contribution was sent to Riverside Grange, Muskingum County, in response to an appeal for aid.

The master gave a report from the officers meeting at the 4-H and Grange Building, Pickaway County Fairgrounds, and the dates of coming events.

The report of the auditing committee was given by Joseph Peters.

Crites appointed Thelma Hines to send cards to the sick and news reports to the papers.

The David Dill family will be hosts for the next meeting scheduled 7:30 p.m. Dec. 3. It will be the annual Christmas party and each family is to bring cookies or candy. A dollar gift exchange will be held.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. David Hedges and Edward Crites after the meeting.

STAR GRANGE

Star Grange met in regular session Tuesday evening Nov. 12th in the basement of the Five Points United Methodist Church for their November meeting. Members of Mt. Pleasant Grange were guests and the new officers were jointly installed by the Pickaway County Grange Youth Installation team.

Worthy Master, Harold Furniss presided over the business session and heard the various reports. A letter of appreciation was read from the volunteer service for the State Hospital members to attend Ohio State Fair. An appeal for aid was answered. County Deputy and Mrs. Ernest Bidwell were present and Mr. Bidwell gave a few well chosen remarks and reminded the group that Saturday Dec. 7th was the annual Grange Banquet at 6:30 P.M. at the 4-H and Grange building. He also announced that we have pecans for sale and Inspection has been set up for Feb. County Youth chairman, Bob Lands announced that the annual Youth Grange Conference will be held on Dec. 28th and 29th at the 4-H and Grange building. The High Priest of DeMeter will be present on Saturday afternoon of the conference and grangers are urged to attend. Carroll Reid, delegate to the State Grange Convention gave a few remarks and will have his report ready when the granges wish him to give it.

It was announced that Star Grange will serve the lunch at the Red Cross visit in Circleville on Nov. 22.

The County Youth team in a very pleasing manner installed Carroll Reid Master, Robert Morgan, Overseer, Lecturer, Helen Hammel, Steward, Otha Lewis, Ass't Steward, Harold Furniss, Chaplain, Ethel Furniss, Treasurer, Frances Follrod, Secretary, Joan Dawson, Gate Keeper Herman Porter, Ceres, Laura Long, Pomona, Ernestine Lewis, Flora, Ellen Dennis, legislative agent, Robert Morgan, pianist, Helen Hammel and Women's activity chairman, Garnett Porter.

At the close of the meeting seasonal refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan, Eva and Florence Long and Mr. and Mrs. Loring Storer.

The December meeting will feature our Christmas Party with a gift exchange.

Lebanon Waterworks 'Sick Out' Scheduled

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Bennie Dwer, spokesman for 23 workers at the Lebanon Waterworks power plant, announced Wednesday that the employees would stage a "sick out" today.

Dwer said the workers want affiliation with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers but the city has not recognized their local.

Kent Vicker, assistant professor, said the site was discovered by construction workers for the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. near Shawnee Lookout Park.

The park was donated to the county several years ago, in part by CG&E. The university has dug other artifacts from the area over the past several years.

Vickery said CG&E plans to resume construction within two weeks and he fears the material will be destroyed if it is not removed immediately.

Vickery said items found include projectile points, stone grooved axes and other tools. He said he believes the excavations have also found evidence of windbreaks or firescreens.

He said the site was apparently a camp used by mound builders or Indians.

Cincinnati's Face Natural Gas Hike

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Cincinnatians who heat with natural gas will be paying an average of $2.07 more per month starting this month, according to Wallace M. Power, city utilities director.

Power said Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. reported increases in the price it pays suppliers. Under existing law, the city must permit the firm to pass along the increases, Power said.

Ask Reassessment On Open Burning

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Environmental Protection Agency has been asked to reassess its ban on open burning.

Toledo City Council in a letter to the Ohio EPA said leaf pickup in the city costs $1 million a year.

The council said it would be easier and more convenient if homeowners were allowed to burn their leaves under controlled conditions.

Indefinite Instability Seen For Middle East

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

For Americans and the world a lot rides today on what begins to look like an impossible dream.

Recent developments dramatically illuminated the towering obstacles to a genuine Middle East peace. Yet without it, the outlook is for an indefinite future of instability in the world's most sensitive area.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's problem is to track down the elusive formula that would permit him to capitalize on whatever momentum his peace efforts have generated thus far. If he fails, it can mean a new superpower showdown.

President Ford has reported "some encouraging news" from Kissinger's latest peace pilgrimage, though others were finding difficulty in detecting reasons for optimism.

The President, meantime, looked forward, he said, to constructive talks with the Soviet leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev, in Vladivostok next week. That meeting could be critical for the Middle East.

The whole fragile structure of the new look in Soviet-American relations, the detente, is at stake, and that policy is of immense importance to the Soviet leader.

Because of the geology and geography of the Middle East, any war there inevitably engages the superpowers, raising the danger of showdown. Yet the palpable peril to their detente policy has failed to dissuade the Russians from following a scent of geopolitical profit from Middle East instability and tension.

The thunder of the October war last year nearly disintegrated the flimsy fabric of detente. A fifth Arab-Israel war could finish detente for a long time—maybe for good. For some hairy hours last year it looked like a replay of the 1962 Cuban missile showdown. Washington alerted U.S. forces worldwide in response to what it said was a Soviet plan to send, unilaterally, troops into Egypt to police a shaky ceasefire.

Egypt and Syria have more and better Soviet military hardware than ever, despite heavy 1973 losses, and Israel has been resupplied by the Americans.

Through six successive administrations, the United States has been guarantor of Israel's survival, and it's hardly likely any administration could consider abandoning her to dismantlement. The Russians are fully aware of the American problem, yet, even as they extol the boons of detente, they keep their monkey wrench at the ready, as they have done throughout all the Kissinger efforts.

Since the October war—in fact, well before it—the Soviet activity did more to hamper than help peace efforts. Today the Russians join enthusiastically in applauding the idea of Palestine statehood under the Palestine Liberation Organization. Previously the Kremlin had confined itself to supporting a national home for Palestinians and vague recognition of their "legitimate rights."

Unless something happened behind scenes at the recent Rabat summit of Arab rulers that hasn't been made public, the outlook is for a long deadlock that will be particularly dangerous in the spring when the time comes to renew the mandate of the buffer United Nations forces on the cease-fire lines.

President Anwar Sadat of Egypt says he favors any move that will restore any bit of Arab land taken by Israel in 1967. But while the Egyptian says the Rabat summit shouldn't interfere with Kissinger's "step-by-step" approach, Sadat himself is in a spot.

MUSHROOMS—Walter D. Smith, 117 N. Scioto St., found nine white sponge fall mushrooms in his front yard Tuesday. They measured from four to six inches.

Sadat had delayed the Arab summit from April until last month, which was all he could manage, while he attempted to bring the PLO and King Hussein of Jordan together. It wouldn't wash, and the Arab rulers at Rabat felt impelled to announce recognition of the PLO as the only representatives of Palestinians.

This demonstrated such PLO political clout that an Arab leader would hesitate to take any action that might lay him open to the domestic political consequences of a charge of hampering the Arab cause.

The Rabat summit decision on the PLO complicated and deepened the crisis. With the PLO clamoring for a Palestine state under its control, Israel sees security as a life-and-death consideration.

If there is a next stage of agreement with Egypt, Syria or both, it must be more than just military disengagement. It must involve, for one thing, guarantees of non-belligerency, which the others, especially the PLO, will not give. In turn, Israel will be reluctant to make any territorial concessions.

Israelis point out, for example, that if the Arabs had possessed Syria's Golan Heights in October 1973, the outcome might have been disastrous for Israel. So she is naturally reluctant about giving up conquered territory.

The Arabs, including King Faisal of Saudi Arabia whose oil billions can fuel the Arab war machine, say east Jerusalem with its Moslem shrines must be returned to the Arabs. Israel, which took it in 1967, says she'll never give it up.

Everybody is asking for "all," and in such circumstances, fruitful negotiations at Geneva or elsewhere seem unlikely. The Egyptians want "all" their territory back. The Syrians want "all" the Golan Heights returned. The PLO demands to speak for "all" Palestine people, though there has been no referendum of any sort anywhere among the 3.2 million Palestinians scattered throughout the Middle East.

Israel won't negotiate if the PLO is to be seated at the table as representing all Palestinians, since the PLO openly has sought to end the Jewish state.

So as weeks grow into months the chance of new war seems to increase.

Southwest District Stars Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Jeff Feicht of Kettering Fairmont West, with nearly 1,600 rushing yards in nine games, has been named The Associated Press Ohio Southwestern District Class AAA Back of the Year.

The big school football coaching honors went to Jack "Bear" Campbell of Cincinnati Wednesday, whose team won its ninth Cincinnati Public League crown in the last 12 seasons. Campbell had only three returning regulars.

Jay Case, a 6-foot-4, 200-pound defensive tackle for state champion Cincinnati Moeller, earned Class AAA Lineman of the Year honors.

An area panel of sports writers made the Southwestern District selections.

Vince Shelby, who has helped prolong Dayton Jefferson's state record 49 straight victories, collected the Class AA Southwestern coaching laurels. Shelby has led the Broncos to 20 triumphs in a row since taking the reins two years ago.

Greg Searcy, a 6-foot, 175-pound senior from Cincinnati Wyoming, was the Class AA Back of the Year and John Fisher, a Dayton Carroll linebacker, the Lineman of the Year.

In Class A, Middletown Fenwick swept the honors.

Jerry Harkrader, who led the Falcons into the playoffs for the third straight year with a 9-0-1 record, was the No. 1 coach, his son Mike Harkrader the leading back and defensive tackle Matt Clemens the top lineman.

The AP's Southwestern District all-stars:

Grid Picker Sees Bengals Loss

NEW YORK (AP) — "How outrageous," writes a pro football fan in Texas, "can you get? Toy with picking the Houston Oilers over the Buffalo Bills and then chicken out."

Well, all this Pro Pigsaw Picker can say is that he did chicken out last week ... and you know what happened — Houston beat the Bills and Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini is still insisting it wasn't an accident.

Maybe Buffalo was looking ahead to this Sunday's showdown with the Miami Dolphins — a clash that may well decide the American Conference East representative in the National Football League playoffs.

Whatever it was, it certainly didn't help the picking average. Last week's showing was 8-5. The season's card now stands at 82-34-1 for .707.

So let's see what outrageous guesses can be made this week:

BUFFALO (7-2) at MIAMI (7-2):

Mike Phipps May Seek New Home

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Browns quarterback Mike Phipps says if he doesn't get a chance to see some action by the end of this season he may start thinking about looking for a new home.

Phipps, who was the Browns' No. 1 draft choice in 1970 out of Purdue, had been the Browns' chief signal caller since the second game of the 1972 season.

But the Browns got off to a poor start this season and three weeks ago backup Brian Sipe got the whistle and Sipe will be making his third professional football start this Sunday against the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"If Brian does a good job all the things I've established will go down the drain," Phipps said. "I'll just have to re-evaluate my position with this team."

"I'm in my fifth season and I can't sit around and watch Brian play. That's the worst possible thing that can happen."

"I can't afford to be sitting around and letting some younger player do what I believe I should be doing. I might have to start looking around for somebody that think's they can use me."

Phipps, who will be 27 Tuesday, says that he believed something like this would happen to him in his career, "but not so soon."

Buffalo Sabres Top Canadiens, 8-6

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Buffalo's "French Connection" line was connecting on all cylinders, but Montreal's Henri "The Pocket" Richard missed his connection and will be out of pocket for at least the next six weeks of the National Hockey League season.

Rene Robert, Gil Perreault and Rick Martin — the French Connection line — combined for 10 points, including four goals, in powering the surging Sabres to an 8-6 victory over the Canadiens Wednesday night. Robert had three goals of the goals as the Sabres stretched their unbeaten string to nine games and their Division 2 lead to seven points while winning on Montreal ice for the first time in 12 games.

MID-STATE MVP—Steve Marshall, who led the Logan Elm golf team to the third place finish in the Mid-State League, was voted the most valuable golfer in the league by opposing coaches, who made him a unanimous pick to the All-League team. In the spring, Marshall was carrying a 41.5 average and was the first player named to the league's second team. His average was lowered to about 40 a round. Marshall is a four-year varsity golfer at Logan Elm.

Detroit Pistons Top Bucks, 98-91

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

When Kareem Abdul-Jabbar joined the Milwaukee Bucks, he turned them from an also-ran to National Basketball Association champions.

Now, with the 7-foot-2 center injured on the sidelines, the Bucks are struggling with a 1-12 record, the same as the expansionist New Orleans Jazz.

Their latest defeat, a team record 10th in a row, was engineered by the Bob Lanier-led Detroit Pistons 98-91.

In other NBA games Wednesday, Washington defeated Kansas City-Omaha 118-81, Phoenix clipped Philadelphia 105-100 and Seattle stopped Los Angeles 108-103.

Lanier, operating without having to worry about the defensive skills of Abdul-Jabbar, fired in 40 points and hauled down 24 rebounds as the Pistons snapped a two-game losing streak.

"We gave it everything we had tonight, but we just couldn't handle Lanier," Milwaukee Coach Larry Costello said. "He killed us."

Even with Abdul-Jabbar missing from the Milwaukee lineup, Detroit didn't have an easy time winning. The tenacious Bucks tied the score at 76-76 at the end of the third period, but the Pistons outscored Milwaukee 22-15 down the stretch.

"I don't know how long yet," Abdul-Jabbar will be out, Costello said. "I can't even see him coming back soon."

"If we knew we weren't going to have Jabbar, we would have dealt for a first class center and not tried to use forwards for center."

Detroit Coach Ray Scott said reserve J.D. Davis "made the difference tonight. With (Curtis) Rowe sick, I'm forced to play Bob Lanier 48 minutes. But J.D. has been able to come in and help Bob."

Davis scored only nine points, but helped out defensively and on the boards. Dave Bing added 20 points for the Pistons.

Milwaukee was led by Bob Dandridge, who scored 28 points, and George Thompson with 18.

Washington, with Phil Chenier pumping in 25 points, overwhelmed Kansas City-Omaha on both ends of the court. The Bullets limited the Kings to just 35 points in the first half and built up an 88-58 lead going into the final quarter.

Kenny Anderson Flirts With Mark

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals quarterback Ken Anderson, whose near-flawless passing performance Sunday erased two National Football League records, may be flirting with one of the oldest marks in the book.

Anderson's pinpoint accuracy—37 completions in his last 43 attempts—has boosted his season percentage to a sizzling 67.4. The all-time NFL record is 70.3, set in 1945 by legendary passing wizard Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins.

Virtually unknown until last year when he claimed the starting job from veteran Virgil Carter, Anderson has emerged as one of the NFL's biggest surprises of 1974.

He's taken over the NFL passing lead and pushed the Bengals into the League Lead in total offense.

The fourth-year pro from Augustana (Ill.) College Sunday broke the all-time NFL consecutive completion record held by Joe Namath and Len Dawson when he fashioned a streak of 16 over two games. The former record was 15.

He finished the game with 20 of 22 to shatter the all-time efficiency mark previously held by Oakland's Ken Stabler, who completed 25 of 29 against lowly Baltimore last year. Anderson's feat came against Pittsburgh, the NFL's defensive leader.

Baugh's 29-year-old record was achieved by connecting on 128 of 182 passes. Anderson, with five games remaining, has already attempted 40 more aeriels than Baugh, completing 147 of 218.

The last player to complete more than 64 per cent of his passes was Otto Graham of Cleveland in 1953. He connected on 167 of 258 for a 64.7 percentage.

Anderson, who shies away from taking credit for his passing accomplishments, points to his fine group of receivers as the chief reason for his sudden success.

And he scrutinizes films in the off-season to prevent interceptions. "I'd rather throw the ball away or run with it than have it intercepted," said the 25-year-old native of Batavia, Ill.

"Really, statistics don't mean anything to me. Winning does. You could complete only four passes in a game, and if they were the right four, I'd be happy. You just do what you have to do to win," he said.

Anderson was a third-round draft choice in 1971. "He should have been a first round in anyone's book," says Bengals offensive coach Jack Donaldson, who coached Joe Namath for four years.

Colonels Defeat Nets; Win 132-129

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Kentucky Colonels owner was so excited over the team's double-overtime victory that she just rushed right into the dressing room after the game. That's right — she.

"I told them, 'thank you,' what else could I say," said Ellie Brown.

The Colonels, with their coach banished from the game in the first half, outlasted the defending American Basketball Association champion New York Nets 132-129 Wednesday night.

In other ABA games, St. Louis edged Memphis 97-92, Utah crushed Indiana 114-103 and Denver rolled over San Diego 132-108.

"You know, a lot of people left this game early," Mrs. Brown said. "I wonder what they'll think tomorrow morning when they read the newspaper."

Louie Dampier and Bird Averitt, two of the smallest players on the Colonels' squad, scored all 14 Kentucky points in the final overtime session. Dampier finished with 32 points while Averitt added 27. New York's Julius Erving led all scorers with 44 points, 36 combined.

Bengals Face Tough Teams

CINCINNATI (AP) — Five tough teams remaining on the schedule will work in favor of the Cincinnati Bengals instead of against them, believes team captain Bob Johnson.

Cincinnati, at 6-3, still trails Pittsburgh by a half a game in the Eastern Division of the American Football Conference.

They have been upset by San Diego and by the Houston Oilers, both teams that Cincinnati had figured to beat easily. Coach Paul Brown insisted there are no upsets in pro football.

Players, however, complained they were not mentally prepared in those games.

"The challenge is laid before us in the next five games," said Johnson, center since the franchise was founded in 1968.

"Historically, we've done well under pressure."

"I'll be surprised if we don't play well the rest of the way. If this team is motivated by a challenge as it has in the past, it will play tough."

"I'm not saying we will win them all, but we'll play well in all of them."

The Bengals, two years after their founding in 1970, managed to win seven straight games to end the season with an 8-7 record and made it to the division playoffs.

They fundered in 1971 and 1972. Then, in 1973, after splitting the first eight games, won the last six straight and went to the playoffs again.

"There's a difference, though," this year, Johnson said.

"We've never had this tough a schedule and the challenge was never quite what it is this year."

Super Horse Track Studied By Group

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Racing Study Committee has a new assignment: looking into the possibility of the state's first super track for horse racing.

Chairman Dean Dollison of Logan and his group will look into the feasibility of such a plant on orders from Ohio Racing Commission Chairman Charles Ginsberg Jr.

"I think we need a super race track close to Dayton and Cincinnati, a combined harness and thoroughbred track. Let's look into the possibility of state or county bonds for it," Ginsberg told Dollison.

"We need it for the betterment of racing in this state," the chairman added.

Ginsberg's statement came on the heels of a commission decision to withhold granting 1975 racing dates for River Downs, the financially-troubled Cincinnati thoroughbred track.

Leon Wolf, attorney for current River Downs owner Mrs. Nicholas Tweel, had applied for 100 racing dates next season.

Mrs. Charles Schott, a Cincinnati socialite and automobile dealer, also has expressed an interest in the dates if she could work out a lease agreement with Mrs. Tweel.

However, Joe Johnson, a Lexington,

Ky., attorney, coal mine operator and horseman, now appears to have the inside track to lease or buy River Downs.

Johnson telephoned the commission Wednesday to ask that he be considered for the 1975 River Downs dates. Johnson said he was negotiating for a lease, with an option to purchase the facility.

Otherwise, the commission granted 1975 dates as requested:

Thoroughbreds—Thistledown, Cleveland, Feb. 28-Dec. 8, and Beulah Park, Grove City, March 29-May 5 and Oct. 4-Nov. 3.

Strong northwesterly winds were expected to keep afternoon temperatures in the 30s across most of Ohio today and some continuing light snow flurries were forecast.

Residents of northeast counties adjacent to Lake Erie were told to expect two to four inches of snow today as the cold air moves across the warmer waters of the lake.

The weather was to continue unseasonably cold with nighttime lows in the 20s and daytime temperatures in the 30s. Some snow flurries were to continue Friday in areas adjacent to the lake.

Wednesday night temperatures generally were in the 40s. Rain fell across most of the state last night with the exception of Toledo where two inches of snow was measured around midnight.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

When Harry bought out Joe's barber shop, he insisted that Joe make him a special promise: to stay out of the barbering trade for the next four years.

At first, Joe managed to keep busy with other work. But finally, lonesome for the old way of life, he opened a barber shop in another part of town.

Harry lost no time in suing him for violating their agreement. But at the hearing, Joe was able to prove that none of his old customers were coming to the new shop — and that they were not likely to come in the future either.

Finding that Harry was being unreasonably selfish, the court ruled that Joe could continue to snip and clip in his new location.

Agreements not-to-compete are common when one person sells his business to another. Generally speaking, they are considered a lawful means of protecting the buyer from having his customers lured away by the seller.

But, as Harry discovered, courts are reluctant to enforce an agreement that reaches beyond the buyer's legitimate needs.

Obviously, it is a matter of degree. In another case a baker promised, in selling out, not to open another bakery within a five-block radius during the next three years.

But this time, when the baker tried to go back into business close by, a court held him to his promise. The court said this moderate amount of protection was no more than the new owner of the bakery really needed to safeguard his investment.

Roughly the same rules apply to the sale of a professional practice. A small-town doctor sold his practice to a younger man, promising not to open another office in the same community. When he later tried to do just that, the local court blocked him with an injunction.

As another court noted, a doctor could justify a good price in selling his practice only by "guaranteeing the genuineness of his retirement."

Blast Kills Workman

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A General Tire Chemical Co. official says sparks from a welder apparently touched off an explosion that killed one worker and injured three others.

Killed was Michael Linkowski, 32, of Clinton, an employee of the Mitchell Piping Co.

A General Tire spokesman said Linkowski had been working atop a new storage tank for latex inside a building. The force of the explosion hurled Linkowski through the roof and into a parking lot about 50 feet away.

A secretary at junior and senior high schools about a quarter of a mile away said she saw the explosion through an office window.

"A huge...tank went so far up in the air it was several seconds before it began to come down," she said.

The injured were treated and released at a hospital.

Group Fights Vo-Ed Plan

KENTON, Ohio (AP) — Kenton citizens have gathered 1,200 out of 1,556 petition signatures necessary to block the city school system's entry into the Bellefontaine Hi-Point Joint Vocational School, according to Lowell Hare, an opponent of the jointure plan.

State law provides a 60-day period after a school board's jointure resolution is passed for petitions to be filed to block the move.

Attempts by the school board to establish a Hardin County Joint Vocational School District failed to gain voter approval on four occasions.

Superintendent of Kenton schools Emil Vavrik said the board only acted to comply with state regulations requiring all districts to provide vocational education up to certain standards.

If the jointure is dissolved by the petition process, Vavrik says the state Board of Education will simply assign Kenton to an existing district.

Metzenbaum Hits Conant

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, urged President Ford Wednesday not to renew his appointment of Melvin A. Conant to the Federal Energy Administration.

Metzenbaum also suggested that Ford ask for Conant's resignation as acting FEA administrator for international energy affairs.

The Ohio senator said Conant's appointment is "inappropriate" because he received a $90,000 severance payment from Exxon Corp. when he left the firm to join the energy office in January.

While saying he did not question Conant's ability or integrity, Metzenbaum said Conant "must feel a strong sense of obligation" to the oil industry.

Conant's nomination was returned to the President when the Senate recessed for more than 30 days last Oct. 17 without voting confirmation.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

What makes it go? How does it work? How high is up? Can you answer these questions for your child? If not, the children's room has books for you.

Let's get down to basics. "The Question and Answer Book of the Human Body" has simple color diagrams of the body and brief information on "What Am I Made Of?". Good for elementary age children.

An unusual approach is used by Dr. Roy Gallant in "Me and My Bones." Using photographs of human and animal skeletons, comparisons are made. For fun, a little girl is shown skipping and dancing with her bony friend. The author is a member of the faculty of the Hayden Planetarium and has written many award winning titles.

"Hands" and "My Five Senses" are two easy books in the "Let's Read and Find Out" series. Try having someone in your family button their shirt without using their thumbs. That's one of the amusing ways the author of "My Hands" demonstrates scientific principles. "Easy Answers to Hard Questions" is a big help when helping a very young child understand why he dreams or becomes hungry. The answers are just "quickies" but the information is accurate.

Many children like to talk and read about what they're going to be when they grow up. "What It's Like to be a Doctor" follows doctors as they deal with emergencies, give inoculations and visit with patients in their offices. The photographs tell a story of men hard at work.

The colorful "Come to Work With Us" series has full page color photographs of children posing as milkmen, newspaper reporters and television performers. Many of the photographs show the marvelous gadgets in electronics today and will thrill mechanically minded readers.

Shall we go on to more difficult questions?

Could you explain how the television picture gets from the Studio to your home? No? Better check out

Naval Academy Acceptance Deadline Set

Young men between ages 16-21, who are interested in applying to the U.S. Naval Academy for the class entering in July, 1975, should take their College Entrance Examination Board (CEEB) or American College Testing Program (ACT) tests this fall. The last CEEB test date the Naval Academy will accept is Feb. 1, and Feb. 22, in the case of the ACT.

Any young man in his senior year of high school who is interested in an appointment to the academy should write his congressmen as soon as possible to request a nomination to Annapolis.

For immediate information on the types of nominations available or for answers to questions about admission to the Naval Academy, contact Commander Roy C. Osborn at 474-8065 or 474-2514.

Highly rated academically among the country's colleges and universities, the Naval Academy offers a student a well-rounded educational program leading to a Bachelor of Science degree and commission in the Navy or Marine Corps.

A wide range of engineering fields including aerospace, electrical, marine, systems and chemical engineering are augmented by degree programs in such areas as oceanography, operations analysis, languages, economics, and history.

A total of 27 academic majors are available to midshipmen with more than 400 courses offered.

Military Chief In The Soup

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's rebuke of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. George S. Brown, has failed to stem the protests of members of Congress and Jewish groups angered by his statement that Jews control the nation's banks and newspapers.

While Ford said Brown's remarks were "ill advised and poorly handled," and Brown apologized for making them, several Jewish organizations and members of Congress urged his removal from office.

Brown, a four-star Air Force general, made his comments in a question and answer session at a Duke University Law School forum Oct. 10 in Durham, N.C.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, who is a Jew, asked Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, to have the panel look into Brown's comments.

Stennis is in Mississippi and a committee spokesman said Wednesday evening no action had been taken on the request.

The Jewish war veterans group said that if Ford did not remove Brown, the nation's top military commander, it would launch a campaign to have him removed because he has a key role in executing foreign policy.

Brown sent a telegram of apology to the group's national commander, Paul Ribner. But the group's executive director, Dr. Seymour Weisman, told a news conference the apology "does not answer the issues raised."

Brown said in the telegram that "in a rather rambling treatment of a difficult and complex subject the words came out very poorly."

"I deeply regret my remarks ..." he said. "They were both unfortunate and ill considered — and certainly do not represent my convictions. I deeply regret that my poorly articulated statements have offended a segment of the American population."

Ford said the remarks in no way represent the opinions of any other senior military or civilian officials. Secretary of Defense James R.

Schlesinger called the speech "unfortunate and regrettable."

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said he knew of no plans to remove Brown. Pentagon spokesman William Beecher said Schlesinger retains confidence in the general.

Brown, in the Durham comments, said Jews "own, you know, the banks in this country, the newspapers, you just look at where the Jewish money is in this country."

Brown also said, "You can conjure up a situation where there is another oil embargo and people in this country are not only inconvenienced and uncomfortable, but suffer, and they get tough-minded enough to set down the Jewish influence in this country and break that lobby."

Peter Kahn of Hartford, Conn. is chairman of the group that invited Brown to Duke. Kahn said in Durham that from the tone of the remarks "during the speech and the rest of the question and answer session, as well as statements throughout the course of his visit here, there is absolutely no indication that Gen. Brown in any way holds anti-semitic views."

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A day which will call for teamwork. You can make fine advances, assure eventual recognition, if you cooperate with all and stress your innate progressiveness.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Keep alert to occupational requirements, the opposition you will face, all likely contingencies. With such matters under control, you can move forward confidently — and with ease.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Apathy and indifference now prevalent in certain quarters. Don't let them dampen your enthusiasm, but do counter with poise and understanding.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): You may have to throw in your lot with the opposition, but first consider facts, advantages. Be vigorous in handling obligations, pursuit of worthwhile goals.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Make careful arrangements in whatever you do. Actions reflect thoughts and there's a possibility now of hastily formed opinions, incorrect conclusions.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): If suggestions offered do not seem feasible, rule them out. Do not become too excited or too forceful in expressing views, but do stand by principles.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Direct action can be effective — IF you have accurate information. Otherwise, take the detour that means safety, a reduced speed to prevent mishap.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Sudden changes of plan or unconventional action could get you into difficulties if you are not careful. Lean toward the practical rather than the theoretical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Expand in undertakings going well, setting a better pace for speedier results. Stress your fine organizational ability.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): If you have a tight schedule, it will be especially important to remain calm. And DO appraise situations carefully before acting. Business matters need extra vigilance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Step up activities to meet competition that is working overtime. The extra try will be worth the effort.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Some changing conditions, new trends indicated. You may not like them all immediately, but many are better than they appear at a glance. Study everything carefully.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely brainy individual and, no matter what your undertakings, you will always approach them from an intellectual point of view. You regard people and situations with equal objectivity, and emotionalism plays little part in your make-up. You are a whiz at figures and could reach the highest plateaus in the business or financial worlds — accumulating great personal wealth as you go along. You also have an affinity for science, with special emphasis on chemistry, medicine and astronomy. The law is another excellent outlet for your talents — a field which, in your case, would lead, almost inevitably, to politics or statesmanship. Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly every game show on TV has a play-at-home version on sale in toy stores. But a new play-at-home TV game now coming on the market isn't seen on television. Nor is it likely to be.

The reason: Its goal is to encourage less TV viewing by children.

The game is "Switch." It's being sold by mail by Action for Children's Television, an activist group which since 1968 has demanded higher quality children's programs without commercials on television.

The general aim of the $1.50 plaything "is to let families know there's something else to life than television," says Peggy Charren, president of ACT, based in Newtonville, Mass.

The game, printed on folding paper, starts with an imaginary TV set switched "on." It takes a player a maximum of 56 moves, fewer if luck prevails, to reach victory, which in this case is "off."

There are 10 draw cards which let the combatants make from one to five moves at a time. They must thread their way through a total of 30 commercials, one technical difficulty, one station break and 19 shows with such names as "The Braided Bunch" and "Tarred Wreks."

En route, they get five "switch" alternatives, such as one switch to public TV or a switch "from buying a toy to making one."

The players pick their commercials from a stack of commercial cards for such imaginary goodies as "Glop Top," a soft drink, or "CapriCavity Granules." They have to get rid of the cards to move to new positions.

"Since you can't win until you do that," says Mrs. Charren, "we hope the children — and we hope their parents play the game with them — will really learn what the switches mean."

"What they're saying is to switch off, to try another kind of activity, like walking or reading a book, or avoiding the sugar foods sold on children's television, or switching from buying the expensive toys that seem to make up almost all the toy advertising on TV this season."

She said the game isn't sold in stores, only at ACT, which has ordered a first-round printing of 20,000 "Switch" sheets.

Van Wert Native Sets Grid Marks

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—Senior end Ned Compton ended his football career with the College of Wooster last Saturday, but the ink is just drying on the changes he has made in the school record books.

The speedy Van Wert native owns all the Black and Gold reception records except the one for total career catches.

Hauling in a 75-yard bomb from quarterback Jim Bressi last weekend, Compton matched the mark for the longest touchdown pass on record.

Two weeks earlier, he set records for most receptions in a game nine, and most yards gained on receptions in a game 160.

Fans also watched him set season marks this year in total receptions 47, yards gained, 821, and touchdown passes caught, six.

His three-year career marks for total yards gained, 1557, and touchdown passes caught, nine, also are records.

The record for total career receptions, which eluded Compton, belongs to Price Daw. Daw played from 1948 to 1950, hauling in 105 passes. Compton's record is 93.

Grid Union Rebuilding Pondered

CINCINNATI (AP)—Ed Garvey, head of the National Football League Players Association, is attempting to rebuild the union after losing the strike and remains hopeful of a settlement.

"The strike collapsed and we lost," said Garvey Wednesday night after meeting with about 25 players from the Cincinnati Bengals, a team which collapsed first in the walkout.

Garvey said after the meeting here he told the players "you either get stronger or you go away and I think we're getting stronger."

Garvey said he has met privately with 18 teams and plans to talk with both New York teams, New England, Pittsburgh, St. Louis and Washington.

"The question is whether this is a short term or a long term thing," Garvey said. "That's the question we ask at each of these meetings. If you're behind 20-0 in the fourth quarter, do you quit or keep trying to win?"

Player reaction at the meetings thus far has been varied he said. Some players have criticized his leadership while others complained that the strike should have been continued.

Gasoline Tax Refuses To Die

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Energy Administration has sent President Ford a long menu of policy choices for reducing U.S. dependence on foreign oil, but the featured listings are conservation measures like extra gasoline taxes and restrictions on downtown parking.

The 780-page "Project Independence" report published Tuesday by the FEA had been ordered by former President Richard M. Nixon, who said it should be a "blueprint" for the United States to achieve independence from imported oil by 1980.

However, the study later was downgraded to an "option paper" and it concludes that complete oil independence by 1980 is neither possible nor desirable.

As expected the report drew mixed reviews.

Interior Secretary Rogers C.B. Morton said the report "is an excellent beginning" on a national energy policy. Morton forced the ouster of FEA Administrator John C. Sawhill, who oversaw the compilation of the study.

"Sound conservation practices will be combined with programs of research and development to provide the American people with a sound energy base during the decade ahead," Morton said.

Thirteen citizen groups called it a "positive — though faltering — first step," while the National Coal Association termed it a "flawed document" that gives short shrift to coal.

The study's suggestions on extra gasoline taxes and downtown parking restrictions theoretically would reduce gasoline consumption and make mass transit more attractive.

President Ford earlier this year rejected higher gasoline taxes, although some members of his administration support such a move.

Reduced energy demand was one of three main strategies for lessening oil imports by 1985, the others being an acceleration of domestic fuel production and creation of oil stockpiles for protection against international blackmail by oil exporting countries.

The report offered no recommendations, leaving that up to Morton as chairman of the President's cabinet-level Energy Resources Council.

Other fuel-saving possibilities included in the report were:

—A mandatory standard for 20-miles-per-gallon automobile performance.

—A 25 per cent tax credit for insulating existing homes.

—Heating and cooling standards, lighting standards, and a 15 per cent energy-improvement investment credit for commercial buildings.

—Efficiency standards for appliances.

—Industrial conservation, supported by research programs.

—Projects to demonstrate and promote energy conservation standards for power plants.

The report said energy conservation could quickly reduce dependence on oil imports and the dollar-drain; ease inflation; stretch domestic oil and gas supplies; and make other policy decisions more reliable.
